For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I among them. Matthew 18:20

Greetings Stonecroft leader! I love the fall. Signs of the season appear right before us. As the leaves change color and the weather cools, we also see changes in activity all around us—kids return to school, vacation photos filed, and at Stonecroft, new outreach activities and events planned.

This edition of 2orMore is full of great tips to spark that evangelism passion within all of us!

You will find valuable information on every page, whether you are a Stonecroft Bible Studies leader ready to recruit new Guides for the surge of studies this fall, or an Outreach Group planning team looking for new leaders and fresh recruiting ideas. Whatever your involvement, 2orMore is for you.

We have a great article on how to introduce Stonecroft Bible Studies and AWARE Evangelism to your church. Need some ideas on how to share Stonecroft with your pastor or other leaders? See page 6.

It's Fall Fundraiser time and we want to encourage your teams to support the ministry of Stonecroft. See page 11.

Prayer Coordinators—we have three months of prayer linked to the Harvest! Our prayer focus

"...the Lord has assigned to each his task. I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God made it grow. ...For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field."

— I Corinthians 3:5, 9 (ESV)

is on planting seeds, waiting and watching for God, and thanking the Lord for the Harvest.

Each of us, working together, planting seeds of the Gospel, watching life grow through Stonecroft Bible Studies, rejoice as we all work to accomplish an abundant Harvest!

We thank the Lord daily as we labor together with our eyes on the Harvest.

Grace be with you all!

Passion with a Purpose if You are in a PICKLE

By Lisa Heidrich, Mid-Southern Field Director

Recruiting leaders and volunteers to serve and glorify God using their strengths may not be as difficult as it sounds! Just remember “PICKLE.”

P = Pray, asking God to specifically show you the women you need on your teams. For example: pray specifically for a Prayer Coordinator with a gift of intercession. God will reveal the names and faces!

I = Identify strengths. A spiritual gifts survey is always fun to do together. Set a date and see how the Lord created each potential leader to serve from the passion He wired into her DNA.

C = Compliment women for what they are good at and plug them into those vacancies. Women with administrative gifts serve well as leaders; others who are more creative might do well assisting the Vice Chair with publicity. The position and person must compliment one another.

K = Keep in touch when you ask a volunteer to consider a position. Always leave the conversation with a follow-up date and call-back time. When you do call, ask: “Is this a good time to talk?” You don’t want to get an answer from someone stressed out, eating dinner, or with kids screaming in the background. Always wait until she’s had the time needed to decide. Remember—she needs a chance to talk to God and wait for His answer.

L = Love them no matter what the response. You can always suggest a “trial run” for a few months just to see if it might be a fit. When women know it isn’t a lifetime commitment, they are more apt to give ministry a try. When they know you care about them personally, they will also be more open to try ministry, knowing you will walk with them.

E = Encourage. Be your volunteers’ best cheerleader. You’ll have fun and build relationships that ignite and fill your spirit everyday. Enthusiasm is contagious!

Remember, you are inviting women into ministry. Erase the word “job” from your vocabulary. No one wants another job—and this is not a job, it is an adventure! Serving the Lord in ministry is an experience that will change a woman’s life for all eternity.

Speak Out!

By Margaret Smith, Regional Speaker Trainer

Many women are ready to speak out about the Lord’s redeeming work in their lives, and need to know of the training opportunities available through Stonecroft Ministries.

As you plan your speaker training event, simply take these steps:

- Pray for God’s wisdom and direction. Form a team of reviewers and other leaders to join you.
- Plan ahead. It may take three months.
- Communicate. Tell leaders about training times for potential speakers. As they think of people to invite, suggest they look beyond current attendees by considering past feature guests or musicians, women of other cultures, and younger women. Inform local pastors of training opportunities. Ask them for the names of those who have a passion for sharing the Gospel or connecting with other women.
- Think topical. Everyone knows someone with gifts and talents who may be willing to share—draw from those who garden, budget, are into fitness and healthy living—the list is endless!

- Send invitations a month before the event with a sneak peak at what they can expect. Let those invited know they should bring a friend. Follow up with an e-mail two weeks before the event.

“Has the Lord redeemed you? Then speak out!”

— Psalm 107:2 (NLT)

Be sure to share the vision of Stonecroft with training attendees. (See “From Notice to Neighbor,” an article from Cheryl Davis, Stonecroft’s Vice President of Ministry Development, about becoming actively aware of people God has placed around us, posted now at Leaders OnLine.) Encourage interaction and questions. Let potential speakers know they will receive information on how to share the Good News in the marketplace. Pray! Plan! Prepare! Communicate! Think! Send!

Upfront and Cross-Cultural

By Gail E. Dudley, Cross-Cultural Ministry Director and Ohio River Valley/New York City Field Director

God is taking us into the mission fields of the world so we can all be involved in evangelism in and outside of our own communities. While there are plenty of people just like us that need to be reached, there are many more within our reach who are different and God is calling us to reach them too.

It is time to walk through the open door the Lord has before us. To take advantage of these opportunities, we must be willing to think differently and learn to minister effectively in multicultural settings. In today's world, our effectiveness in outreach will be limited if we continue

Marketplace Ministry

By Cheryl Gochmauer, Staff Writer/Editor

Stonecroft's new Marketplace Ministry initiative draws on Stonecroft's historical desire to proclaim the Gospel to working women—whether they're stationed in an office building or running a home-based business.

At Marketplace luncheons, Stonecroft offers women opportunities to network, present their businesses, build clientele—and hear the Gospel.

Marketplace is focused more on ministering through these women than ministering to them. That's because a major goal of this new initiative is to tap into the service mindset so prevalent among today's young professionals. Stonecroft provides these conscientious to allow cultural differences to keep us from sharing the Gospel with all.

Through Stonecroft's Cultural Awareness workshops, volunteers gain the ability to work effectively in cross-cultural situations. It is essential for volunteers to develop the awareness, knowledge, and skills to respect different cultural values, beliefs, traditions, customs, and norms—to effectively evangelize cross-culturally.

"...to prepare God's people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ."

— Ephesians 4:12-13 (NIV)

Stonecroft Ministries has enjoyed proven success for more than 70 years in reaching women for Christ. However, there remains an underrepresented "mission field" in many metro/urban centers of the nation.

It's time! Let's get "Upfront and Cross-Cultural."

women opportunities to band together on community projects, acting as the hands and feet of Jesus as they care for those around them.

This initiative's outward-focused mindset also spurs mentoring as mature Christian women work alongside their younger counterparts. Marketplace Ministry is now underway in cities in Louisiana, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Recruiting Guides

By Nancy Sprouls, Upper Mid-Atlantic Field Director

As a Stonecroft Bible Studies leader, one awesome privilege and task you have is encouraging development of new Guides.

Reba Crill, Stonecroft District Consulting Coordinator in Central Pennsylvania, shares her method of equipping those she leads to identify those God is preparing to guide studies.

“Many new Guides are developed through our established studies, so look with eyes wide open right within your group,” Reba says.

Watch for those who:

- Offer to read a Bible verse
- Gain respect of the group
- Show interest by asking questions after the study is over

“Begin praying for and informally mentoring this person,” Reba suggests. “Call her, invite her to lunch, share these positive observations you have made, and encourage her in her studies. Ask her to pray for the group and if she would be a back-up for your study. If she says yes, call the Coordinator to arrange a Guide training session.”

10.2.10

By Cheryl Davis, Vice President of Ministry Development

Impact '10 is right around the corner!

Mark your calendars for October 1- 2, 2010. Around the world thousands will gather together to respond to how God is stirring His people.

For most, Impact '10 starts Friday night with a full line-up of locally-led events. Then, Saturday, prepare yourself to celebrate with those all over the globe. Launching from Kansas City, Missouri, a four-hour live feed of worship, inspiration, and training will focus on equipping and encouraging believers to make Jesus Christ known to their communities.

Stonecroft plans to host at least seven simulcast locations throughout the United States, with international sites in

While many Guides can be mentored through our existing studies, also look for potential Guides in the community, such as:

- Planning Team members
- Women in home-school and Christian school groups
- Those who attend or lead other Bible studies

Explain that the goal is not to compete with them, but to help equip them to reach women who don't know Christ with evangelistic Stonecroft Bible Studies.

Tips for Coordinators: Keep in contact with your Guides.

- Call several times a year and pray with them
- Remind them of what to look for in a potential Guide
- Find out if there is anyone in the study who could be mentored as a Guide
- Plan to celebrate successful study periods
- Encourage them that God will bring women across their path areas including Europe, Central and Southern Africa, and Canada.

If you would like to be part of hosting an Impact '10 site in your region, please contact your Field Director or e-mail specialevents@stonecroft.org.

Partners in Community: Stonecroft and Your Local Church

By Kathy White, Upper Midwest Field Director

Did you know you have potential ministry partners already established in your community? Many churches share Stonecroft's heart for evangelism and they face similar challenges. But some may not be aware of Stonecroft Ministries and how we can help one another.

Here are a few of the resources we have to offer churches and how each of us can help build a connection with the churches in our own communities.

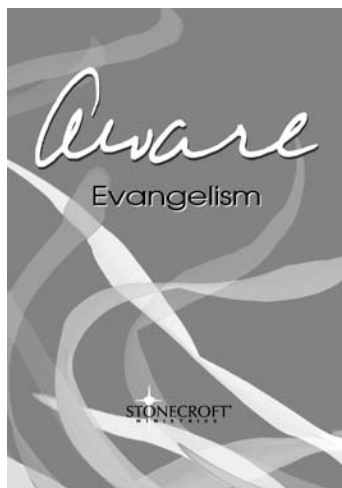

For tips on how to approach your church leaders regarding Stonecroft's programs and resources, read the expanded version of this article in 2orMore online at stonecroft.org.

Stonecroft Bible Studies

Churches are continually looking for Bible study curriculum. Stonecroft Bible Studies are among the best evangelistic Bible studies on the market, but are not widely known outside Stonecroft circles. Few studies are as simple, effective, and easy to use and Guide. Your church might welcome tools that equip people to think and act evangelistically, and also take studies into your communities.

Increased AWAREness

By Susan Collard, Staff Editor

Audrey McCarthy admits her preconceived ideas about evangelism dissipated after joining an AWARE Evangelism group.

“I quickly realized that AWARE was not a method or a list of things to memorize,” she stated. “This fresh approach has what I call deceptive simplicity. It was non-threatening and easy to engage with.”

Though the concepts seemed simple, Audrey quickly realized putting them into practice took desire and purpose.

“To be aware of others, you have to be intentional,” she said. “You have to take the focus off yourself and put it on them.”

Ministry for Moms

Churches are looking for better ways to serve and reach moms. Pray & Play, Moms on the Run, and Stonecroft Bible Studies are perfect complements to programs churches may already offer. Stonecroft offers the evangelistic and prayer components that many moms programs lack.

Specialized Training

Specialized training is something many churches can't offer—and equipping women is one of the hallmarks of Stonecroft. Offering speaker training and evangelism training to women in the church appeals to many.

Outreach

Help in doing outreach more effectively may be welcome. Let churches know about Stonecroft resources for outreach.

Just think, churches and Stonecroft ministering together. YOU could be the link to impact your community for eternity. We need each other. Let's build some partnerships!

Audrey especially appreciates how AWARE helps weave evangelism into everyday life. “It's something you take with you at the gym, in stores, and in your relationships. It's doing something in the name of Jesus that is valuable. It's helping to put evangelism at the root of your life and making it a natural response.”

Prayer Connection

To encourage and equip people to pray, and to engage our communities and the world with the Gospel

Each quarter, 2orMore features fresh ideas for making your Prayer Connections powerful and effective. Praying for local Stonecrock outreaches and the city or town where you meet is essential because your local Prayer Connection may be the only group consistently praying for your community.

Prayerfully select a devotion based on the month's theme. Some suggested sources include:

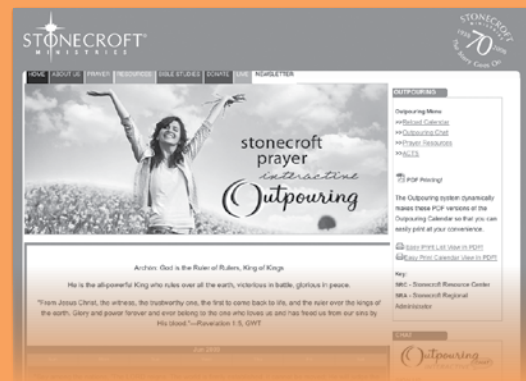

- "To Inspire You" devotions found in our e-newsletters archive
- Past Prayer Connection devotions found under "Prayer Coordinators" at Leaders OnLine
- My Utmost for His Highest by Oswald Chambers or Our Daily Bread devotions found at rbc.org

May each Prayer Coordinator experience great inspiration in their moments with the Lord as they prepare for these important times of intercession.

"I am not praying just for these followers. I am also praying for everyone else who will have faith because of what my followers will say about me." – Jesus, John 17:20, CEV

Outpouring at stonecrock.org is your primary source for Stonecrock prayer tools and materials, including:

- Daily Prayer Calendar
- ACTS Prayer Format (Adoration, Confession, Thanksgiving, and Supplication)
- Interactive Prayer chat in real time with other volunteers—see the weekly e-newsletter for established times or create one for you and the women you do ministry with
- Prayer Coordinator Blog—post your ideas and read others' inspiration
- Tips & Tools for Prayer Coordinators
- Principles of Prayer—God-Centered, Holy Spirit-Guided, and Purposeful

1 Corinthians 3:5-9

Prayer Connection Outline

Reflect on God's Word — Open in prayer and share a devotion.

Meditation & Praise — Read scriptures about planting for the Harvest. Discuss together how you have witnessed the teamwork involved in planting for the Harvest.

Prayer Time/ACTS Format — Use scriptures to emphasize the following sections of the ACTS format. Pray for the ministry of your group and Stonecrock outreach efforts in your communities.

- Adoration (Praise)
- Confession (Personal or corporate)
- Thanksgiving (Answered prayer)
- Supplication (Requests for local ministry)

(See a detailed description of the ACTS format at www.stonecrock.org/ACTS)

Close time with personal prayer.

Prayer Requests

- Pray for many seeds to be planted at your outreach event.
- Pray for all components of your next outreach event: the speaker and her testimony; the seeds of the Gospel taking root and growing among the guests; the feature; the Chair; the logistics of the location; and a warm, welcoming atmosphere.
- Pray for local and national concerns: churches, schools, governing bodies, community organizations.
- Pray for Stonecrock Ministries: events across the world, the increase of Stonecrock Bible Studies, and other happenings/outreach methods highlighted in this issue of 2orMore.

October 2009 Prayer Focus: "Waiting for the Harvest"

James 5:7-8, Galatians 6:9

Prayer Connection Outline

Reflect on God's Word — Open in prayer and share a devotion.

Meditation & Praise — Read scriptures about being patient and waiting on the Lord. Invite the group to discuss.

Prayer Time/ACTS Format — Use scriptures to emphasize the following sections of the ACTS format. Pray for the ministry of your group and Stonecroft outreach efforts in your communities.

Adoration (Praise)

Confession (Personal or corporate)

Thanksgiving (Answered prayer)

Supplication (Requests for local ministry)

(See a detailed description of the ACTS format at www.stonecroft.org/ACTS)

Close time with personal prayer.

Prayer Requests

- Pray that your group will be patient and not give up or become weary.
- Pray for all components of your next outreach event: decisions for Christ, renewed faith, the power of the Gospel presentation, first-time guests and those who return, hospitality, and an enjoyable event.
- Pray for your communities, leaders of our countries, and the various ministries of Stonecroft.

November 2009 Prayer Focus: "Thanksgiving for the Harvest"

Psalms 95:1-7, Psalm 148

Prayer Connection Outline

Reflect on God's Word — Open in prayer and share a devotion.

Meditation & Praise — Read scriptures on thanksgiving for all the Lord has done. Invite everyone to share their thankfulness for the outreach in your group and communities. Share where you have seen fruit in your ministry.

Prayer Time/ACTS Format — Use scriptures to emphasize the following sections of the ACTS format. Pray for the ministry of your group and Stonecroft outreach efforts in your community.

Adoration (Praise)

Confession (Personal or corporate)

Thanksgiving (Answered prayer)

Supplication (Requests for local ministry)

(See a detailed description of the ACTS format at www.stonecroft.org/ACTS)

Close time with personal prayer.

Prayer Requests

- Thank the Lord for the fruit you have witnessed in your ministry: the lives changed for eternity; the Gospel spread throughout your community; the Stonecroft Bible Studies started and the people disciplined. Thank Him for each other!
- Pray for all components of your next outreach event, the Gospel which produces new life, and a greater harvest than you can ever imagine.
- Pray for local and national leaders.
- Pray for Stonecroft Ministries: Ask the Lord to produce abundant harvest through the laborers across the world.

ONEvoice

Thank you, volunteer leaders! You are the voice of ONEvoice—faithfully sharing how God is using Stonecroft Ministries to connect women in powerful ways. Formerly Project Updates, your ONEvoice scripts are now provided through 2orMore as a resource for you to share with outreach activity groups.

The diversity of this quarter's content illustrates what it means to be involved with the worldwide network of Stonecroft Ministries. Your enthusiasm when presenting ONEvoice inspires others to get on board and offer their support. Thank you again for encouraging both prayer and giving so more women will have the opportunity to discover a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

ONEvoice September

Stonecroft connects women with God, each other, and their communities.

Imagine living a simpler lifestyle at a slower pace, surrounded by majestic mountains and pristine waters. Sounds good to me! How about you? Well, the residents of McCall, Idaho would agree with us.

But this country town is more than just a pretty place. It is a rural community. While the wide open spaces are awe-inspiring, they also limit the options available for residents to connect to one another.

In McCall, and across rural America, individuals face unique challenges. Many struggle with isolation, poverty, and substance abuse. Stonecroft Ministries is reaching out to women in these areas through a new initiative addressing these specific needs. What is happening in McCall is one example of how women are being impacted in a positive way through Stonecroft's Rural America Initiative.

The local pancake house in McCall is packed four days a week now, thanks to innovative outreach efforts by Stonecroft volunteers. As you can imagine, a crowd draws a lot of attention in a small town, so the women in attendance always have invitations on hand to give to potential guests who want to join the fun. The number of people finding friendship and meaningful connections keeps growing. Eight new Stonecroft Bible Studies have begun as a result of these "pancake dates"!

Events such as these touch the hearts of women and their families in small-town America. Today, you can contribute to the success of Stonecroft's efforts to connect women. Please make your check payable to Stonecroft Ministries, and put it in one of the envelopes at your table. Your gift is tax-deductible, and we'll provide a receipt for all donations.

Thank you!

Planning your annual Fall Fundraiser? Your efforts support Stonecroft's work around the globe, shining light into areas where religious freedom is restricted and resources are few. See page 11.

ONEvoice October

Stoncroft connects women with God, each other, and their communities.

Picture with me the women in your life—the women you have the power to positively influence. Who comes to mind? Your sister? Niece? Neighbor? Coworker?

Stoncroft Ministries exists for each one of them. Women of every face, every stage, and every age are the women of Stoncroft. In order to reach women of diverse backgrounds, Stoncroft is committed to cross-cultural awareness, making a difference in the lives of real women.

Here's one example of the role cross-cultural awareness is playing in connecting women through Stoncroft. Rano is an Uzbekistan native who immigrated to the United States. She is finding friendship and encouragement through Stoncroft, and is eager to share this treasure with women from her culture group.

Rano has joined a local Stoncroft group and is intentionally inviting other native Uzbekistanis to participate. Language is a barrier, however, because for Rano and many of her friends, English is a second language. That's why Stoncroft resources translated into additional languages are so helpful. They offer women like Rano the opportunity to be equipped and encouraged in the language that is most familiar to them.

Today, you can acknowledge the need for further cross-cultural awareness. Just make your check payable to Stoncroft Ministries and put it in one of the envelopes at your table. Your gift is tax-deductible and we'll provide a receipt for all donations.

Thank you!

ONEvoice November

Stoncroft connects women with God, each other, and their communities.

Many of us crave a relaxed, relational, and budget-friendly way to connect with women in our community. There is a real need for positive influences and encouragement in our lives. But let's face it—we're busier than ever and many of us are running on empty. Fortunately, Stoncroft offers events and resources to meet us right where we are.

Meeting people right where they are was exactly what volunteers in LaGrande, Oregon had in mind when they launched "Coffee House Conversations." The invitation was enticing: working women were encouraged to relax after a tough day, enjoy a free dinner, and be part of a "coffee house conversation" about the positive influence of one woman.

Volunteers set up their coffee house venue in LaGrande's city hall building. Even though there were only a few advance reservations, by the time the food and fun began, the tables were filled to capacity. The room hummed with the sweet energy of women enjoying themselves.

Women today need to be heard and to hear messages of hope. Each of us possesses the potential to live a life of passion, contentment, and vision, even in our chaotic world. Stoncroft brings a ray of optimism to communities worldwide.

Today, you can help spread these messages of hope by encouraging women through Stoncroft events and resources. Please make your check payable to Stoncroft Ministries and place it in one of the envelopes at your table. Your gift is tax-deductible, and we'll provide a receipt for all donations.

Thank you!

Fall Fundraisers: For the Good of the Cause

By Susan Collard, Staff Writer/Editor

When Jesus left His followers on earth, He enlisted them in a cause. He told them, “Go into all the world and preach the good news to all creation” (Mark 16:15 NIV). Jesus has commissioned us to be His missionaries wherever we are.

That cause of Jesus Christ is Stonecroft’s cause too. For more than 70 years, Stonecroft Ministries has been equipping women to be His missionaries in their communities—now in 64 countries of the world.

When you give a financial gift to Stonecroft’s worldwide outreach, you are supporting Stonecroft missionaries in the US and in other countries. These are ordinary women like us, mothers and wives—women commissioned by Jesus with a heartfelt desire to share the Gospel with others.

Some face difficult circumstances. Betty, a Stonecroft volunteer, lives in Malaysia where the national religion of Islam permeates every aspect of life. Non-Muslims are a somewhat restricted minority. This country also fights a continuing battle to prevent the exploitation of women for the international sex trade and forced labor.

In the midst of this discouraging environment, Betty faithfully introduces women to God’s truth through outreach, using Stonecroft Bible Studies. Women’s lives are changed, families are changed—the ripple effect goes on and on.

As you prepare for your annual Fall Fundraiser, remember Betty and the other Stonecroft volunteers in hard places around the world — places where religious freedom is restricted and resources are few. Your financial gifts are part of this worldwide outreach, providing Bible study materials, translation costs, and training resources.

Our international and local volunteers serve through the challenges because they know women need Jesus. Giving to the cause of Christ is an investment yielding eternal dividends—and you have a part in seeing Malaysian women’s lives changed through the power of the Gospel.

We are sincerely grateful for all you give for the good of the cause—in your communities and in communities around the world.

A Clear View of the Home Office

By Cheryl Davis, Vice President of Ministry Development

It takes all of us.

That’s every person whose name we confidently associate with Stonecroft Ministries. That’s our Board of Directors, CEO, valued volunteer team, faithful Field Staff—and it’s our dedicated Home Office Staff.

Located in Kansas City, Missouri, 42 team members work with the sole purpose of serving the Lord through serving you.

This happens every day as members of our accounting team oversee the financial information for nearly 1,000 groups and thousands of Stonecroft Bible Studies.

The IT staff keep computer systems efficient for ministry with far-reaching impact.

Staff members take phone orders and answer questions, package these resources and other mailings for you, the volunteers around the world.

Creative people keep stonecroft.org and other communication pieces engaging and packed with encouragement.

Other committed team members develop Biblical Training Tools, Stonecroft Bible Studies, and training events.

Every staff member’s heart beats with the reoccurring desire to see women and their communities transformed by the Gospel. From the maintenance team to the receptionists, to the administrative and human resources staff, each one is dedicated to this mission—and to supporting Stonecroft Ministries to see that mission fulfilled.
